NEW TAX COUNCIL MANAGER

Monterey County Tax Council announced today the appointment of Mrs. Ann Todd as its new secretary-manager. Ann Todd succeeds Charles W. Flanagan, who recently resigned to accept a post in the Legislative Auditor's Office in Sacramento.

For the past four years, Mrs. Todd has been secretary-director of the Marin County Taxpayers' Association. In such capacity, she has been notably active in district and county governmental affairs.

Mrs. Todd's previous experience also includes work with a Michigan Chamber of Commerce, Export-Import Bank, Finance Office of the Department of Agriculture, and Advisory Commission on Foreign Trade. In the latter capacity, Mrs. Todd spent several months in Europe studying economic conditions.

BARE FACTS

The beautiful women on the storied island of Bali are wearing more than the usual scant attire, because tourists are always photographing them. Over here the gals shed their surplus clothes to attract the shutter bugs.

BARBARA MAY & LOUISE HARBER WIN SPECIAL CASH AWARDS THIS WEEK IN SPECTATOR TRAVEL CONTEST*MERCHANTS OFFERING ADDITIONAL PRIZES

The fortunate winners of the Special Awards given members of The Carmel Spectator's Circulation Travel Club who turned in the largest amount on subscriptions, the past week, were Miss Barbara Ann May of the second district, the $15 special award, and Miss Louise Harber of district one, the $10 special award.

These club members are to be congratulated, as the votes secured winning the special awards will apply also on the large awards to be given next Friday night, May 18, when the Circulation-Travel Club comes to a close. All club members who tried for one of these awards benefitted in that they received more votes to apply on the large awards.

Just one week from today the greatest circulation event ever held in Carmel will come to an end, and one of the club members listed below will receive the trip to Honolulu, or $500 cash, besides the five beautiful awards donated by the merchants as special gifts to the winner of first place. There are also two lovely special prizes to go to the winner of the second grand award of $200 cash.

The prizes to be given the winner of the trip are an engaging, sculptured swim suit from Maxine's, a sweet lace-trimmed nylon slip from the Harriet Duncan Apparel Shop, a delightful white leather combination compact and cigarette case, trimmed in gold, from The Little Leather Shop, and a charming white pique visor cap from The Cinderella Shop. A fifth award for the winner of the trip to Honolulu is a gorgeous cotton bathing suit from Lynn's Ltd., Ocean Avenue and Monte Verde Street. This bathing suit is in ginger flower print cut of material of Lynn's Ltd. original fabric design.

The winner of the $200 second place will receive a fascinating terry cloth jacket, in Hawaiian print, to be worn over a swim suit, from Kramer's Shop for Women, on Ocean Avenue, next door to the Library; also three boxes, six pair, of "Sheedlife" nylon hosiery, in newest and most wanted shades, from The Village Shoe Tree, at 6th Avenue and Dolores, Carmel.

NEW GROUP PLAN

The last Extra Votes to be awarded, May 15, will be for groups of ten subscriptions to The SPECTATOR. Ten subscriptions to The SPECTATOR will give club members 100,000 Extra Votes; 20 subscriptions, 250,000 Extra, and 30 subscriptions, 450,000 Extra Votes. Each group of five subscriptions over 30 will increase in proportion. This offer is from Wednesday, May 9, to Tuesday, May 15, at 5:30 p.m. Closing rules will be given in next week's SPECTATOR. The last three days the only extra votes are those awarded on amounts of money in subscriptions, such as have been given since the beginning of the contest.

Extended subscriptions will count in this last special offer for this week. That is, anyone who has taken The SPECTATOR from a club member for one year, or for two, may extend his subscription to make three years, at the campaign reduced price, and club members will receive the difference in votes. New subscriptions extended from one year to two years will give 7,000 additional votes; from one year to three years, will give 17,000 additional votes. Renewals one half as many extra votes. One additional year will cost $2.00; two additional years, $3.50.

No more coupons will be published, but those in back numbers may be brought in until Tuesday, May 15, at 5:30 p.m. None will be accepted after that time.

Judges will count the subscriptions brought in the last three days of the campaign. Subscriptions will be placed in a locked ballot box at The SPECTATOR office, and no one but the club members will know how many are placed in the box until after the contest is closed and the judges count them. The judges, whose names will be published next week, will be well known local residents, who have no personal interest in the outcome of the campaign.

The standing of contestants to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, is given below, with votes cast for publication:

MRS. JOHNSTON NINETY YEARS YOUNG

Mrs. Luella B. Johnston, mother of Markham Johnston of Carmel, celebrated her ninetieth birthday last Tuesday.

In honor of the occasion Mr. and Mrs. Markham Johnston held open house at their home, the preceding Sunday, for California descendants of the senior Mrs. Johnston.

From Burlingame came Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Anderson; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gaffney from San Mateo; Mr. and Mrs. Eastman from Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Johnston and Dr. and Mrs. Cordes Ansel from Sacramento, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Newman and children from Newman.

CARMEL PISTOL CLUB BEATS MILITARY

Scoring a hot 1088, the Carmel Pistol Club avenged a previous defeat at the hands of the Fort Ord Pistol Club in a match held at the Post Range recently. Fort Ord was second with 1077 and the Navy Line School third with 981.

Rain and high winds did not bother the Army's team captain, Major Ellis Lea, who scored a 290 out of 300 to take top individual honors. Sgt. Harley Jenkins, Monterey policeman, was second with 286, and Pete Alphonso of Carmel was third with 280.

GARDENIA DAY AT RANCHO DEL MONTE COUNTRY CLUB

On Sunday afternoon, May 13, at Rancho Del Monte Club, Carmel Valley, the annual gardenia pageant takes place. Three thousand fragrant gardenias will float on the pool, making a beautiful setting for resort fashions to be shown.

A Hawaiian luncheon will be served at one o'clock, followed by the gardenia pageant and the fashion show at 2:30.

The program will open with a water ballet by Mary Horne, Barbara Horne, Carol Smith and Deborah Geering in the gardenia covered pool. Lynn Conlan, well known designer, will then show a resplendent array of colorful resort fashions. Commentator for the show will be Edith Morrison.

An interesting feature of the fashion show will be a double wedding party, one a garden wedding, the other an authentic Hawaiian wedding.

Among the models for the fashion show are Virginia Blair, Daryl Henderson, Mrs. Jack Parsons, Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mrs. Waldemar Funke, Joan Tait, Beverly Viney, Mrs. Jan Meiners, Diane Horne, Connie Storm, Carol Hansen, Mrs. Edmond Sullivan, June Cabrera, Mrs. George Corrigan, Carol Templeman, Jerry Durbrow, Mrs. John Storm, Mrs. James Hughes, Mrs. James Thompson, Mrs. Donald Thompson, Lois Whetstone, Maurine Storm, and small fry, Wendy Draper, Lynn Conlan, Sherry Conlan, Nancy Porter and Patsy Porter.

SCHOOL AGE LIMITS WILL BE CHANGED

Registration for all new kindergarten students and first grade students took place yesterday, May 10, at the Carmel Woods School and Sunset School.

A pupil entering kindergarten in September must have been born on or prior to March 1, 1947. A pupil entering the first grade in September must have been born on March 1, 1946 or prior to that date. A copy of the birth certificate or some official verification of the date of birth must be presented when the child is registered.

Two bills are awaiting signature by Governor Warren. When they are signed the entrance ages will be raised to 4 years, 9 months, and 5 years, 9 months. This will mean Kindergarteners must have been born on December 1, 1946 or prior to that date. Any children who have been enrolled in kindergarten this year will go into the 1st grade, but students starting in the 1st grade with no kindergarten schooling will be under the new age requirements.

OSTEOPATHS HOLD SYMPOSIUM ON CANCER

The May Lecture meeting of the Monterey Osteopathic Society was held at Gallatin's in Monterey, last week.

Dr. Wesley Carey, urological surgeon from Oakland, conducted a symposium on the early diagnosis of cancer and allied kidney disease by X-ray procedures.

During the business meeting, Dr. James Rule of Ben Lomond was elected president of the Society for the coming year. Dr. Rufus Richardson and Dr. William H. Wong became president elect and secretary-treasurer respectively. Dr. Margaret W. Barnes was present from Carmel.

BACH FESTIVAL TO BE JULY 16 TO 22

For the fourteenth time, Carmel will have its Bach Festival, the dates having been announced as July 16 to 22. Gastone Usigli, conductor for the eleventh consecutive time, has been rehearsing the Festival Chorus on the "Magnificat" and the "St. John Passion." For the first time since 1938, the B minor Mass will not be given, the "St. John" being put in its place.

Due to lack of rehearsal time, only two major choral works can be given each year, and in order to present as many as possible of the major cantatas, the Carmel Festival is doing what most of the other Bach Festivals do, presenting different works on different years. The "St. Matthew Passion," "Christmas Oratorio," "Easter Offering" are some of the other great works the Festival hopes soon to do. No one who heard the "St. John Passion" last year has forgotten the revelation of the wealth of beauty, dramatic contrasts, and unexplored riches which a first hearing of the work offered.

The "St. John," given only in part last year, will be given in its entirety this July, when the full glory of the great opus will be set forth by soloists, chorus and orchestra.

The Bach Festival Headquarters have been moved to the Graham Music Company, located on Mission and Sixth. The Festival box office will open there on June 1.

MOTHER'S DAY

The modern mother is hardly the type whose world begins at one end of the house and ends at the other. While her family is no less important to her than was that of her own mother or grandmother, her horizons are vastly broader. Besides raising her family the mother of today takes an interest in school and civic affairs, keeps informed on political and economic matters, and on occasions speaks out on these subjects either individually or through group spokesmen.

Many mothers hold jobs in defense plants and in the business world. Many of them are invaluable business partners to their husbands. Not a few have successful enterprises of their own. But in spite of her increased activities and diversified interests today's mother is no less loving and lovable. Her thoughts center primarily around her loved ones and her hand guides them with the same tenderness and affection that has always been characteristic of the mother instinct. Today as yesterday she makes those secret sacrifices for her family which only a mother will make. As always, she is more than deserving of the day--the second Sunday in May--set aside each year in her honor.

DEFENDERS OF FREEDOM

The slogan, "Defenders of Freedom," keynoting the nationwide observance of Armed Forces Day, Saturday, May 19, is not one of those phrases coined by a high priced publicist to support a drive or a campaign. It is a down to earth statement of positive fact. The young men and women who at present make up our Armed Forces are actively engaged in giving life to this slogan.

Defenders of freedom of the Republic of Korea, a small peninsular country whose right to choose a democratic government was insured by the United Nations; standing by to defend the freedom of any other small nation whose God-given right to governmental self determination may be threatened.

True, the brave fighting forces of other United Nations countries are aligned with those of the United States, but the greater percentage of the armed might brought to bear upon aggressor nations is from the United States, and must continue to come from the United States, which is everywhere looked upon as the country determined to see that every nation be allowed to choose freely its own form of government.

That the danger to the United States and other democratic countries is great is obvious to any student of communistic precepts. Just as it was obvious, not too many years ago, to those who were aware of the ambitions and designs of totalitarian nations. Just as Hitler set forth his plan of world conquest in "Mein Kampf" and proceeded to set about the accomplishment of his ends, so the Communists have declared their goal of world domination.

The danger is a real and chilling threat to everything that is held dear to freedom loving people. The danger has become a real and tangible act in the case of Korea.

Because of this danger, the Armed Forces of the United States, assume a stature that can in no wise be minimized. Even now the selective service boards, the recruiting offices, and the organized reserve corps are increasing the strength of our Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force.

The young men and women who make up these organizations are from your state, your city, your very same street. It is these young people who you grew up with, watched grow up, or reared yourself that form our bulwark against the threat of communist aggression which may become rampant anywhere at any time.

For too many years, in too many situations the United States, an avowedly peace loving nation, has allowed its desire for world tranquility to blind it to the menace of aggressor nations. Not so this time! The only language that is understood by the spectre hovering over us is the language of force. Therefore, we shall have force; not force to bend other nations to our will but Armed Forces to insure that the will of our nation and the will of other free nations shall not have to bend to any obnoxious ideology.

It is only proper that the Armed Forces of the United States should be designated "Defenders of Freedom." Join with your Armed Forces in making Saturday, May 19, the greatest tribute yet paid to the men and women who stand between you and the threat of aggression.

"SHOWER" OF PROTEST

When Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain yielded to Hitler's demands at Munich in

"gadgets unlimited"

1938 his ever present umbrella became a symbol of appeasement. It is not surprising then that in the vast volume of protest over the firing of General MacArthur umbrellas have been sent to Washington to emphasize the feelings of some citizens. No less than a dozen have been received. Well, it rains a lot in Washington and Harry can use them while he's there. But from all indications he'll be washed out if not washed up when the 1952 election comes along.

FROM PARIS TO CARMEL

"Everything--mountains and seashore, beauty and convenience--put together in one spot for mankind to enjoy!"

That, collectively, is how four visiting Frenchmen regard Carmel. Here briefly this week on their first trip to America, they nod and "Ah, it is life in a dream!"

One, Leon Briet, has decided to remain two more weeks, despite business engagements elsewhere in the States, for special reasons. His daughter is Mrs. Peter Johnston of Carmel, whom he has not seen since the close of World War II. His son-in-law, whom he met during the latter's five-year war-time stay in France, is head of Carmel's new Retailers' Guild and busy with the Carmel Art Shop.

This all makes much ground for "Papa" Briet to enthuse over, for he is not only Pete's "beau pere" but a businessman eager to observe American commercial methods. He is connected with one of France's largest industrial rubber products syndicates.

M. Briet seems to combine business and pleasure uniquely: At dinner in the Johnston home he proudly announced he had purchased at a local shop a set of false teeth--which he intends to brandish at members of his syndicate when their yakity-yak prolongs directors' meetings.

His companions, also staying at the Johnstons, are Pierre Chelle, son of a bottling equipment manufacturer; Charles Moulin, maker of winecellar supplies, and Marcel Jourdan, agent for the Chelle and Moulin concerns.

Chelle is a wounded veteran of the famed French 2nd Armored Division which participated with GI's in the liberation of Paris.

The others are all veterans of both World Wars. As such, they received an ovation when introduced by Johnston to a membership meeting of American Legion Carmel Post 512.

Impressions of these Frenchmen vary from marvelling at Carmel's "beautiful shops" and "secluded homes" to recognizing universally familiar things. Sunday drivers, for instance. "Yes," commented Chelle, "we have them too--chauffeurs du dimanche--and just as bad." Taken to a local hotel, they regarded the buffet-style dinner there as "a pleasant curiosity." All agreed they had never seen the likes in France, but Briet recalled a buffet at the Hotel Adlon in pre-war Berlin.

Not forgetting that Californians have been making wine for scarcely 100 years, the visitors commented that the local juice compares "favorably" and let it go at that. During their presence at the Johnston table, it is set copiously with fresh milk and canned fruit juices--by popular demand.

A most appreciated sample of modern life here is the ability to draw two or even more hot baths in rapid succession. Chelle pointed out that new and rebuilt homes in his country have many up-to-date conveniences, but none to match our hot water supply.

A sample of the local female is something that Chelle still awaits. (He is the youngest of the four.) "I haven't had a good look at any pretty girls in Carmel," he lamented. "In Paris they saunter along the boulevards slowly enough to be viewed critically; here they whiz by in cars too fast even to be seen."

Tangible results of "le Plan Marshall" are now evident in France, the visitors emphasized. As Briet and Moulin put it, the program is already an asset to America because it has revived war-prostrated industries of France and thus has put her once more in a position to be a helpful ally of the United States.

GROWS WITH CARMEL

Evidence of the growth of Carmel is evident on all sides when one sees the amount of construction in the form of new homes and places of business. Further proof of the expansion is the current statement of the Bank of Carmel. The assets and liabilities of the bank now stand at $6,053,216.25. This is an increase of over $450,000 from the statement issued at this time last year, according to A. F. Halle, vice-president.

COME IN COSTUME PREPARED TO ENJOY YOURSELF

CHARMING LOS LAURELES LODGE in upper Carmel Valley, was the setting for the Monterey County Unit of the American Women's Voluntary Services' regular monthly business meeting, which last week was the occasion for a delicious luncheon preceded by cocktails around the swimming pool.

Mrs. Richard Bowers, chairman, took this opportunity to congratulate members for their splendid work in local AWVS activities, reminding members that "we are a service organization and members are expected to participate in these projects." Particular attention was called to the work of the AWVS Thrift Shop located on Del Monte Avenue in Seaside, by its co-chairman, Miss Charlotte Collins, who called upon members not only to serve in the shop, but also to help obtain even more and better merchandise. She pointed out that this was the group's "bread and butter project," which provides funds for their Youth activities.

On display at the meeting and receiving much interested comment was a poster series depicting various local AWVS projects, including The Thrift Shop, International Relations, Ashton School for Cerebral Palsied Children, Seaside-Del Monte Youth Center, Well Baby Clinic at Seaside, Service Men activities, community projects, fashion shows, and the Straw Hat Revue. The display was designed and arranged by Mrs. A. D. Studybaker and will be sent to New York for the National AWVS Convention on May 22. Mrs. James Tyson will be the delegate from the Unit.

During the week of June 4, AWVS will assist at the Parsons of Carmel silver and antique shop, on Lincoln Street near 7th. Ten percent of all sales during that week will be given to AWVS.

CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS HENRY H. HART

Following announcement of the proceeds of the recent rummage sale, Mrs. F. E. Vaughan opened the meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club, Monday, May 7, by introducing the general chairman of the rummage sale, Mrs. James Burgess, and her committee, Mrs. L. C. Miller, Mrs. Eva R. Belangee and Mrs. Nora Law.

Mrs. Vaughan then called attention to the chances on the toaster which will be won by some lucky person at the June luncheon. This last meeting of the year will be on June 4. Reservations for the luncheon must be received by May 28. The price is 75 cents. It will be served at 12:30, and will be followed by the yearly report of the members of the board of directors and the annual election of officers.

The garden tour is scheduled for Saturday, June 2. Guests will meet at the Carmel Woman's Club at 1 p.m. The public, including husbands, brothers, uncles and boy friends, is invited. Tea will be served at the club house at the conclusion of the tour. The tea is included in the price of admission, which is $1. Those desiring transportation may phone Mrs. Barbara Murphy (7-3846) or Mrs. L. H. Lyon (5-4590). Local small gardens will be a feature of the tour.

On May 21, Henry Meade Williams will address the book section on "Behind the Scenes with the Editor." Mr. Williams needs no introduction to Carmel. He is at present conducting a six weeks course in short story writing at "Two Pines," with private conferences and manuscript criticism. As former associate editor of the American Magazine and author of many stories in Colliers, Cosmopolitan and other magazines, Williams' talk on his experiences as editor and writer should interest writers and would-be writers of the Peninsula.

Following these announcements, Mrs. Vaughan turned the meeting over to the program chairman, Mrs. Barbara Murphy, who introduced the speaker, Dr. Henry H. Hart, a distinguished scholar and authority on Asiatic culture.

Speaking without notes and holding a large audience in enthusiastic attention, Dr. Hart elaborated his topic, "Backgrounds for Understanding Southeast Asia." Of the five countries, Burma, Malaya, French Indo China, and the Philippines, he chose to enlarge upon Malaya and French Indo China, including with these Siam, Annam, and Cambodia. The history of these, as well as Formosa, was traced back through centuries, illustrating the influence of foreigners and inventions on the character of the peoples. Reference was made to Marco Polo, Kubla Kahn and Sir Stanford Raffles. Dr. Hart believes that England will remain in Malaya until the people are able to govern themselves. Refraining from controversial statements on MacArthur, he cited the failures of Acheson and Wallace in China.

The next meeting will be the card section on June 1, from 1 to 4 p.m.

W A C S NINE YEARS OLD

The ninth anniversary of the Women's Army Corps will be observed at Army camps and bases throughout the nation and overseas stations, next Monday, May 14.

It was on that date in 1942 that the women's Army was organized as an auxiliary corps, the parent organization that a year later was made a regular component of the Army of the United States.

At Fort Ord there are 174 WACs assigned to duties and attending school. A special tribute will be paid to these women, as all other WACs and members of the Armed Forces on May 19, when the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force will celebrate Armed Forces Day.

Since the day of their official origin nine years ago, the WACs have proved their value to the Army in countless ways. Every member of the Corps has voluntarily chosen to serve her nation, lending special skills or ability to the national defense of the United States.

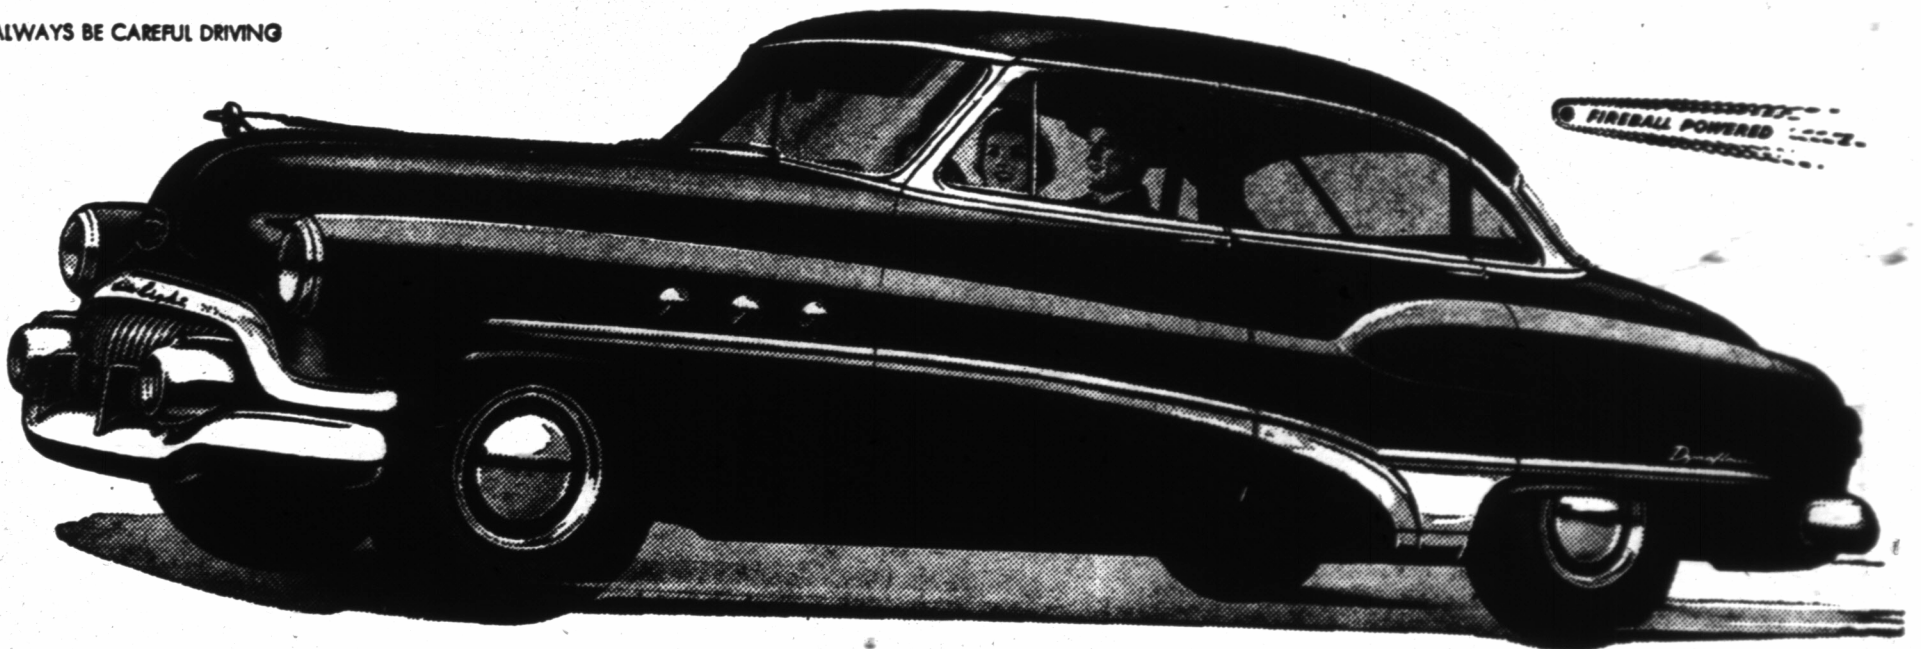

More than 17,000 members of the WAC have served overseas in such spots as Bermuda, Puerto Rico, Panama, Labrador, Greenland, British Columbia, Yukon Territory, Italy, France, England, in the Southwest Pacific and Far East.

AT THE RANCHO DEL MONTE COUNTRY CLUB 3000 gardenias will float on the swimming pool for the fashion show pageant, May 13.

ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING

The difference goes more than Skin-Deep

Nobody wonders what you're driving when you roll by in this one.

In the 1951 line-up, its brand-new front-end styling stands out with a beauty all its own.

You're the proud owner of a Buick—and the whole world knows it.

But you—at the wheel—enjoy a long list of differences that go far deeper than looks.

The ride is different—level and true. You sit the road with special assurance—because Buick's torque-tube drive keeps rear wheels firmly aligned—soft coil springs on all four wheels soak up the bumps and bobbles—honest weight keeps you on a steady keel.

The power is different—eager and sure. Buick's high-compression Fireball engine does wonders with fuel—and no matter what you demand in emergency, there's horsepower to spare.

Handling is different—this car seems to steer itself on straightaway or curve—and swings lightly into parking spots inches shorter than you'd think you need.

Capping it all, there's the silken versatility of Dynaflo Drive,* that takes all the tenseness out of driving—responds to your slightest wish with a surging swoop of power.

No doubt about it, what you get in a Buick is far more than just a new car—it's a whole new experience in getting pleasurably from here to there.

So why not explore this difference? Come, take a Buick over and find out how very much satisfaction smart money can buy.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

No other car provides all this:

THE WICKED LADY

Margaret Lockwood
James Mason"THE MADWOMAN OF CHAILLOT" INTERESTING COMEDY - DRAMA

Good acting was seen at the opening last weekend of the Wharf Players, Inc. production of "The Madwoman of Chaillot," an unusual comedy-drama, by Jean Giraudoux, in which some form of psychopathy is evidenced by every character in the cast.

The play is an ambitious undertaking, for its plot and characterizations are such that an amateur company could easily make an utter farce of it. Handled as it was, under the direction of Thomas D. Brock, the serio-comic intent of its author was delightfully expressed. Countess Aurelia, "the madwoman of Chaillot," (who said she was mad?), played by Elizabeth Stevens, was superbly done. The part is an extraordinarily difficult one and none but an artist could handle its strange combination of fantasy, wistfulness, pathos and comedy. Mrs. Stevens did accomplish this, setting the tone for the rest of the cast, and her interpretation was sustained throughout the performance by every gesture, inflection and facial expression.

There are two acts of one scene each, the first being a colorful sidewalk cafe in a demi-monde section of Paris, the second, the cellar domicile of Countess Aurelia, just over a sewer entrance. A fantastic plan by a group of "phoney" promoters to dynamite Paris in order to release oil from its substrata, is foiled by the wit of the mad countess, the rag-picker and other unbalanced idealists.

AT HILL

A memorable musical romance of 1934 and a much-imitated comedy-farce of 1937 open at the Hill Theater tonight, with a matinee set for 2 o'clock tomorrow. These are the Grace Moore - Tullio Carminati "One Night of Love," and the original "Topper," which combines the comic talents of Roland Young, Billie Burke, Cary Grant and Constance Bennett.

Starting with the Sunday matinee at 2:30, the Hill will show the recently-crowned Academy winner, "The Walls of Malapaga," hereafter known as "the best foreign film of 1950." This deeply moving film stars the fine talented Isa Miranda as an aging but potent Genoese waitress, Jean Gabin as her final lover, and Vera Talchi as her awakening daughter. The dialogue is in both French and Italian, with English titles throughout.

Fernandel in, of all things, a French filming of "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," comes to the Hill screen on Wednesday for two days. The movie is said by all to be "The Frenchman's most hilarious effort to date."

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Diversification of background and occupation is certainly the "mean" and not the "extreme" for Carmelites. Although now the efficient and friendly manager of one of Carmel's best-liked hotels, Miss Kathleen G. Prewett, The SPECTATOR'S "Who Is It?" for this week, has turned her hand to many things. An accountant "by trade," she grew into her present position through the medium of account keeping. Even back in her high school days in Modesto, to which place her family moved from Arkansas, she kept straight the affairs of the Board of Education, whose secretary she was for six years.

From this phase of school work she went into yet another type--management of the office of a school architect, H. W. Weeks, in San Francisco. Promotion work for this office was followed by six years as business manager of Western Hotel Reporter and office manager for Edward T. Maples, hotel broker.

Always having come to Carmel on vacation in those good old days when rents were $16 a month, Miss Prewett finally turned in this direction for year-around residence. Her first Carmel job was with Hugh Comstock, architect; the next, with John B. Jordan, then owner of Lobos Lodge and Inn; and last--before the war--with Carl S. Rohr, whose shop she managed for two years while he was away on defense work. Before "joining up" herself, Miss Prewett was for two years coordinator of civilian defense here in Carmel, and after the war, chairman of the post-war planning committee.

During her 15 months as a WAC, she trained in Des Moines, went to Florida on an assignment, and then back to Bolling Field in Washington, D.C. "If it hadn't been for those months in service, I wouldn't know so well as I do the thinking of the youth of this country."

In 1945 Miss Prewett returned to Carmel and account keeping, this time for Harrison Godwin, owner of Pine Inn. "I love people, and work in a hotel gives one a marvelous chance to come in contact with every conceivable kind. And the nicest thing about Carmel itself is that it is a leisurely place in which to earn a living, there's no cut-throat competition, and one's employers become one's friends."

POLICE CALL

Woman stated she left car for hour on Carmel street; returned to find initial "L" scratched in paint of right car door. Suspect juveniles or someone with middle initial "J"--for Jackass.

Complaint phoned in to CPD to report neighborhood youngster practicing piano, usually around 6 a.m. Police asked to patrol block, soft pedal the efforts of the ambitious young artist for the benefit of lazy stay-abeds.

Reported wife left house clad only in pajamas. Hope no one starts that fad again.

Lady brought to CPD station unknown small boy who wandered into house, played with her young son awhile, couldn't find way home. Police cruised neighborhood with youngster till house showed up which looked familiar. Kid should have story of Hansel and Grete read him.

Woman claimed neighbors, irritated by her allegedly barking dog, had run ad in local paper offering to give dog away, charged her for the ad.

Lady left car on downtown street, returned to find strange lady's slacks, white clothes, and pair pink toe dancing slippers in her car. If anyone sees scantily clad barefoot woman tiptoeing around Carmel, notify CPD.

Old swimming hole: Man came into gas station while police car refueling, reported man's shoes, calf sport coat, pants, shirt and underclothes on beach, suggesting possible suicide. Police solved case on spot. One officer remembered three men he encountered night before on Ocean Avenue, two on outside supporting one in middle. Man in middle clad only in dressing gown and alky fumes. Midnight swimming a la old swimminghole had ended when middle man was swept to sea and deposited eight miles (he insisted) down beach from his clothes. Clothes recovered following day at CPD station.

Woman called CPD at 4 a.m., reported car backing to and fro on verge of small precipice near house. Officers found three persons asleep, car lights on and motor running. Removed keys, opened windows to freeze them or thaw them to consciousness, as case might be. Returned 5 a.m., found occupants equally cold and sober, walking up and down to keep warm. Gave driver keys, explained that bed was safer place to sleep.

Prowler reported by woman. Police took cast of prowler-suspect's heel prints. Turned up a late-working utilities meter-man.

TO ATTEND THE ANDERS GITTELSON EXHIBIT OF OILS which opened midweek at the Artists Guild of America, Inc. Galleries, and runs through May 30, is like walking into another era of painting. Lining the lower gallery walls is a group of 32 oils such as the one, "Head of an Oriental," pictured above. These paintings, in their universal depth, their mellowness of tone even in the somber darks, and almost sculptural solidity, speak of the Renaissance period, though they are actually of Gittelson's own strongly individual expression.

Gittelson, a graduate of Pratt Institute under Alexander Kostellow (Carnegie International Prize Winner) spent many years studying in the great museums and private collections of the East, giving him a deep feeling for this almost extinct technique. While perhaps most impressive at first sight are his portrait studies, his landscapes (usually with human figures), and still lifes must receive equal evaluation in most instances.

There is Forest Path, a large park grove of trees. Children are playing around the trunk of a large old tree. Two youngsters are up in the branches trying to erect a swing. Here is a landscape deep and quiet, a place for a picnic or a walk.

The Old Philosopher reflects the sadness and joys of a long life already lived, while the Mexican Farmer shows profound patience and indifference to life's troubles reflected in a powerful portrait.

The Black Cat portrays a woman dozing near a table laden with food. A black cat is on the table. Although the painting is peaceful and domestic in feeling the presence of the cat about to steal some food creates tension and excitement.

Another, the Study of a Child, shows a still life arrangement of a chicken and some potatoes and a cloth. In the background a young child is eating a cookie and looking out at the spectator with innocent eyes.

This extraordinary exhibit may be viewed between the hours of 1-6 p.m. daily, at the AGA, Inc. Galleries, at Monte Verde and Ocean, or through the Court of the Golden Bough.
